4. Information We May Provide to Third Parties

We may disclose your personal data to the third parties listed below. When we do so, we require those third parties to have appropriate technical and organisational measures in place to protect your personal data. We will not share any of your personal data for any purpose other than the purposes described in this privacy policy, nor will we sell your personal data to anyone.

4.1 Any member of our group of companies (this means our subsidiaries, our ultimate holding company and all its subsidiaries) insofar as reasonably necessary for the purposes, and on the legal bases, set out in this privacy policy.

4.2 To our insurers and/or professional advisers insofar as reasonably necessary for the purposes of managing risks, obtaining professional advice, or the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims, whether in court proceedings or in an administrative or out-of-court procedure.

4.3 Payment services providers we have chosen to support us with financial transactions relating to our Website. We will share transaction data with our payment services providers only to the extent necessary for the purposes of processing your payments, refunding such payments and dealing with complaints and queries relating to such payments and refunds.

4.4 Governmental and regulatory bodies, including law enforcement authorities, in connection with enquiries, proceedings or investigations by such parties or in order to enable Propeller to comply with its legal and regulatory requirements.

4.5 Partners, contractors and/or vendors in order to perform contract we have with you or Customer.

5. Your data protection rights

You have the following rights in terms of the personal data we hold about you:

The right to be informed.	Wiget Group AB is publishing this privacy policy to keep you informed as to what we do with your personal data. You can ask us for information regarding any data of yours that we keep at any time. This information concerns, among other things, the data categories we process, for what purposes we process them, the origin of the data if we did not acquire them directly from you and, if applicable, the recipients to whom we have sent your data.
The right to access.	This enables you to receive a copy of the personal data we hold about you and to check that we are lawfully processing it. You can obtain a copy of your data from us free of charge. If you are interested in other copies, we reserve the right to charge for the additional copies.
The right to correction (rectification).	You can request that we correct your data. We will initiate appropriate measures to keep the data of yours that we continuously process correct, complete, and up to date, based the latest information available to us.
The right to erasure (The right to be forgotten).	You can request that we delete your data provided the legal requirements have been met. In accordance with Article 17 the GDPR, this can be the case if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● the data are no longer required for the purposes they were acquire or otherwise processed; ● you revoke your consent, which is the basis of the data processing, and there is no other legal basis for the processing; ● you object to the processing of your data and there are no legitimate reasons for the processing or you object to data processing for the purposes of direct advertising; ● the data have been processed illegally. We may however still process data: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● To ensure adherence to a legal obligation that requires us to process your data ● In particular with regard to legal retention periods ● To assert, exercise or defend against legal claims

The right to restrict processing.	You can request that we restrict the processing of your data if <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • You dispute the correctness of the data – for the period of time we need to check the correctness of the data; • The processing is illegal but you do not wish to have your data deleted and request a restriction of use instead; • We no longer need your data, but you need them to assert, exercise or defend against legal claims; • You have filed an objection to the processing, though it has not yet been decided whether our legitimate grounds outweigh yours.
The right to data portability.	At your request, we will transfer your data– where technically possible – to another responsible entity. However, this right only applies if the data processing is based on your consent or is required to fulfill a contract. Instead of receiving a copy of your data, you can ask us to send the data directly to another responsible entity that you specify.
The right to object.	You can object to the processing of your data at any time for reasons that arise from your special situation provided the data processing is based on your consent or our legitimate interest or that of a third party. In this case, we will no longer process your data. The latter does not apply if we are able to prove there are compelling, defensible reasons for the processing that outweigh your interests or we require your data to assert, exercise or defend against legal claims.
The right to withdraw consent.	Withdraw the consent you gave us with regard to the processing of your personal data for certain purposes, such as to allow us to promote our products and services to you.
The right to complain.	Wiget Group AB takes your rights very seriously. However, if you are of the opinion that we have not dealt with your complaints adequately, you have the right to submit a complaint to the data privacy protection authorities responsible. You can visit their website to find out how to submit a complaint (https://www.datainspektionen.se/).

We endeavour to address all of your requests promptly.

6. International Transfers of Your Personal Data

6.1 We do not envisage that any of your personal data will be transferred to countries outside the European Economic Area (EEA) as our offices, facilities, subcontractors and other third parties with which we work are all located within the EEA.

6.2 In the event that this changes in the future and one or more recipients of your personal data are located outside the EEA, where data protection laws may be of a lower standard than in the EEA, we will impose the same data protection safeguards that we deploy inside the EEA to ensure that your personal data are always protected.

7. Retaining and Deleting Personal Data

7.1 We will keep your personal data for as long as is necessary for the purpose for which we initially collected them. Once such period has ended, we will keep your personal data for the longest of the following periods: a) any retention period set out in our retention policy which is in line with regulatory requirements relating to retention; or (b) the end of the period in which legal action or investigations might arise in respect of the services provided.

7.2 Once the retention period of your personal data lapses, we will ensure that your personal data are either irreversibly anonymised or securely destroyed.

8. Confidentiality and Security

8.1 We deploy various security measures such as encryption and authentication tools in line with the current state of the art to protect and maintain the security, integrity and availability of your personal data.

8.2 100% protection against unauthorised access in the case of data transfers across the internet or a website cannot be guaranteed, but we and our service providers and business partners do our utmost to protect your personal data in line with the prevailing data protection legislation by means of physical and electronic physical precautions. Among other things, we use the following measures:

- Strict criteria for authorisation to access your personal data on a “need-to-know” basis only and exclusively for the specified purpose;
- Transfer of acquired data in secured form;
- Storage of confidential data in our secure servers;
- Firewall safeguarding of IT systems to provide protection against unauthorised access, and
- Continuous monitoring of access to IT systems to detect and prevent the misuse of personal data.

8.3 If you have received a password from us in order to be able to access certain parts of our Website, you are responsible for keeping this password confidential and for compliance with all other security procedures which we make you aware from time to time. We ask you not to share your password with anyone.

9. Cookies

9.1. Our Website uses cookies to distinguish you from other users of the Website and provide contractual obligations in a high quality level. This helps us to ensure its smooth operation in order to improve your experience.

10. Changes to this privacy policy

10.1 We may update this privacy policy from time to time by publishing a new version on our Website.

10.2 We will notify you appropriately when we make changes to the privacy policy and we will amend its revision date so that you know when we last amended it. We do however encourage you to review this statement periodically so as to always be informed about how we are processing and protecting your personal information.

10.3 We may notify you of changes to this policy by email or through our Website.
